SUMMARY

I am a 19-year-old enthusiast of learning new things and exploring different areas of interests. Always ready to work together in teams and helping others with whatever knowledge acquired so far.

Learning is evolution, heading towards something bigger, something that would change the universe in some manner and uplift humans on the whole. With this vision I am always ready to widen my skill set with whatever knowledge required as the time passes by. Presently I have been exploring my interests in the fields mentioned, still a long journey to travel.
